QUALIFICATIONS

- Certificate III in business administration

Sarah has nearly 20 years' experience in administration and financial management. She leads Pinion Advisory's accounts team, managing the company's financial administration tasks and providing support services to consultants, and administrative and bookkeeping services to farm business clients. She ensures that her team is able to provide business support resourcing to meet workflow demands, and assists project managers with developing and managing project budgets.

Sarah also plays a key role in project delivery, in addition to her administrative duties. She is the sponsor coordinator for the Red Meat Updates conference, which requires excellent communication, relationship management and time management skills. Sarah also provides coordination support for producer discussion groups delivered by Pinion Advisory's consultants.

Sarah is thorough, organised and is passionate about supporting the Pinion Advisory team to deliver excellent service to our clients, contributing proactively to achieving the goals of the business.
