There is a growing trend of building on-farm grain storage as a way of managing risk, accessing new or different supply chains and managing logistics.

If you are contemplating on-farm grain storage within your business or wanting to find out a bit more around on-farm grain management come along to this free 1.5-hour session followed by a free BBQ lunch.

Guest speaker: Ben White

Ben White delivers on-farm workshops and training sessions in the western region. As an agricultural engineer Ben draws on his extensive industry experience as a researcher and editor of the Kondinin Group's Farming Ahead magazine to complement his knowledge and experience in grain storage. Ben brings a fresh approach to best practices in on farm storage.

Session content

- Economics of on-farm grain storage
- Practical management and storage hygiene practices
- The marketing strategy behind the storage
