

Pasture Principles

Building skills in pasture management

A 12-month program designed to build livestock producer's skills in pasture management, delivered across southern Australia in 2025

Pasture Principles, developed by Pinion Advisory, provides a group training environment for farmers to learn the guiding principles of pasture management, allowing them to work confidently regardless of the season or system.

Pasture Principles is delivered as 7 sessions over a 12-month period, including one day of theory and six on-farm coaching sessions, allowing time to put theory into practice. Each coaching session is aligned with key seasonal changes and provides the opportunity to build knowledge and skills alongside a group of like-minded peers.

Skills delivered in the program:

- Leaf stage and emergence
- Animal requirements
- Measuring pasture cover
- Feed budgeting
- Setting rotation lengths
- Cost: revenue decision-making

Pasture Principles has been attended by > 300 participants

from

> 100 businesses

out of 10, they rated the program

9/10 value of the content

9/10 satisfaction of the delivery

“Our entire team undertook the Pasture Principles program. From this we implemented a new grazing management plan, only possible with the new skills we obtained from Pasture Principles. Pasture Principles provided us with one of the most critical turning points in our business productivity and profitability in the last decade.” – Frank Archer, Landfall Angus.

Want to participate in Pasture Principles?

Delivery locations will be determined based on interest. The program is currently delivered across New South Wales, Victoria, South Australia and Tasmania.

Expressions of interest are currently open for 2025

To register your interest, follow the QR code link, email pastureprinciples@pinionadvisory.com or visit pinionadvisory.com/training-workshops.

